He Mistreated His Sex.
A Durham miner, aged seventy-three, visited a Newcastle lawyer (a bachelor) for the purpose of making his will. The old man's property consisted of two small cottages, which had cost him £150, and a little furniture.

The lawyer, having asked his client how he wished to dispose of his property, the latter replied: "Ma and woman here to hev all so long as she's a widow. Efter that ma haufers get all."

"What age is your old woman?" asked the lawyer.

"Seventy-two," replied the miner.

"And how long have you and your wife been married?" asked the lawyer.

"Over fifty years," replied the miner.

Thereupon the lawyer suggested to his client that he should give the wife the interest during her life, whether she continued a widow or otherwise.

"Hinner, An' wintus; An' hev ma an' way," said the miner.

"But surely," replied the lawyer, "you don't expect your old woman, now seventy-two years old, would marry again after your death?"

The miner, looking the lawyer full in the face, answered with much solemnity:

"Wey, hinner, thoe's me knawing what youn' cheps like yourselt will do for money."—Pearson's Weekly.

COMING TO THE THEATERS.

Olga Netherole, the English actress, who made such a pronounced success in New York, will be seen in Washington next week at Albaugh's Opera House. This lady, in addition to her ability as an actress, is said to be of beautiful face and perfect figure, and will consequently be an engagement in "Camille," a play that is always of interest, and as Marie Gauthier, Miss Netherole is said to be wonderfully effective. Besides this, Miss Netherole will be seen in "Romeo and Juliet," "Frou Frou," and "The Transgressor." Miss Netherole comes under the management of Mr. Marcus Mayer, who has secured an excellent supporting company, at the head of which is Mr. Maurice Barrymore. The sale of reserved seats commences to-day.

Della Fox, who is well known in this city to all lovers of comic opera, will make her debut as a star at the head of her own company at the National next week. Her first stellar appearance was at the New York Casino in the early part of the present season, where her success was instantaneous. It was where for nine weeks she played to larger audiences than any similar attractions had ever done in the history of the Casino. In Chicago, where she is now playing, the first week of her engagement to crowded houses, her success is phenomenal. The first week's business—and it was a rainy week—was to the largest audience in the city, and the receipts were the largest of the season. She brings with her a company of twenty, prominent among whom are Yilla Knox, Marie Collette, Paul Arthur, and Jefferson. The company is a well-trained chorus of fifty. The production is an elaborate one and was staged under the direction of Mr. Richard Barker. The sale of seats opens this morning.

Among the many special acts which will be seen with the Della Fox company at the Academy of Music next Monday, are the three Marvel Brothers, the London sensations in grotesque novelties; Symonds, Hughes, and Sauter, exponents of Southern humor, vaudeville and pickaninny dancing; Messrs. Sheehan, Curtis, Williams, and Mack, the Manhattan Quartet, in original selections, and Sherry and Platt, the well-known musical comedy duo. The noted baritone, William A. Galpin, will render "The Fatal Wedding." The tenor, C. J. Curtis, in "An Old Fashioned Valentine." The boy soprano, Harry Leighton, will sing "Give My Love to Nellie," and the phenomenal singer, George Preston, will be heard with "Take Back the Enchanted Heart." Of course Lew Dockstader will be heard in all sorts of topical songs, peculiarities, speeches, and sayings, and he will be ably seconded by the storied old redoubtable Frank H. White. The entire company will appear in several very laughable skits, including "The Entertainers," "In Blackville Society," and "A Woman's Word." DuMont, the Minstrel Shakespeare, also appears.

Commencing next Monday at Butler's popular play house, the Della Fox company, J. J. Dowling and Myra L. Davis will present, for the first time in this city, the new American melodrama in four acts, entitled "The Life of a Slave Girl." The play is a realistic, stirring, and thrilling drama, and the mechanical effects are new. An exceptionally strong supporting company gives promise of a successful performance. A number of new and original specialties will be introduced during the action of the piece.

Manager Kernan's attraction for next week will be the Telly and Wanda Big Show. This organization is so well known to the patrons of the Lyceum that comment is hardly necessary. An exceptionally strong company, including the opening of the performance in which will appear a number of European and American artists. The closing feature will be an extravaganza, entitled "The Lyceum," which will be a new and original production. The entire company will appear in several very laughable skits, including "The Entertainers," "In Blackville Society," and "A Woman's Word." DuMont, the Minstrel Shakespeare, also appears.

TURKEY WITH THANKS.

Lucky Members of the Treasury Guard Win Birds with Good Shots.

Ten members of the "Treasury Guard," otherwise known as Company B, of the Sixth Battalion, D. C. N. G., will each revel in the delights of a turkey-roast to-day.

The fortunate ones are Sergt. Garrett, Corp. McClain, Privates Cox, 41; Private Barlow, 43; Private Matthews, 44; Private Bailey, 45; Private Garrett, 46; and Sergt. Davenport, 47. According to the rule the first three were winners, but Garrett and Davenport had to shoot again to decide a tie.

Private Matthews donated the turkey, and presented it to Corp. McClain. Capt. Tomlinson gave him to Private Cox, and Private Barlow, not to be outdone in generosity, presented his prize to "the mother of the company," Sergt. Davenport.

The "booby prize" of the occasion, was won by Private Holmes, in the decision of a tie between him and Private Melton. Holmes made the lowest actual score in the first round, and the best in the "shoot off."

ADDED POSTAL STATIONS.

Postmaster Willett Provides Several Branch Offices Around Town.

Through the efforts of Postmaster Willett additional postal facilities have been provided in the city, as follows:

Branch post-offices at Thomas E. Ogram's drug store, No. 1211 Pennsylvania avenue, to be known as Station T; at Walter Holmes' drug store, corner of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin avenues south, to be known as Station V; and to go into effect January 1, a branch at Charles A. Becker's drug store, Tenth street, to be known as Station W.

The Tenth street station will transact money orders and registered letters.

Two additional carriers for East Washington station will be detailed December 1.

The Tenth street office has been heretofore in the fourth-class, but Acting Postmaster General Jones abolished it as such, and established a sub-station instead.

A NEW THANKSGIVING GAME

Basket-ball Is to Be Played by the Coming Women.

COLLEGE GIRLS TO CONTEST

The Sophomores and Freshmen of Smith's Will Wage a Dreadful Warfare in Short Skirts—Bryn Mawr Also Interested—The Origin of the Game and Its Simple Rules.

Basket-ball is to the women's College what football is to the men.

The Bryn Mawr girls are particularly enthusiastic over this sport, and the Smith College students are in training for a match game some day Thanksgiving week.

A picked nine from the sophomore class will be pitted against a picked nine from the freshman class. The Smith College girls are immensely interested in basket-ball, which she also calls cradle-ball.

At Bryn Mawr, the students are equally as devoted to this game, indeed, their interest in it is tremendous, and vies with the enthusiasm of the men.

The beauty of the game—or one of its beauties, for it has many—is that it can be played by any number, and the more the merrier, it is a very popular sport.

The ideal number, however, is nine on each side. There is a goal keeper, two backs to assist, a center, a right and left center, two forwards, and a home man (i. e. woman in this case).

Why the game is popular.
